vintage Esquire pin-up girls phone calendar book from 1941. illus. red squiggles are phone chords. entries from NY, NJ and Maine INCOGNITOINMAINE

Found in the library of an older vacation home here in Maine.

Calendar entries from 1941 and some from 1942.

Original owner was a woman with an active social life.

Many names and places noted in her tiny penmanship. Notations from NY, NJ and Maine Twelve glossy illustrations of pin-up girls. I chose modest illustrations for this listing.

Covers are soiled but in good condition. The red lines represent a telephone cord, NOT crayon scribbles.

Spiral binding is solid.

In used, not mint, but I found the calendar notes more interesting than the pin-ups.

Free shipping will be via priority-mail in a small box or padded envelope with delivery confirmation. I live in a rural area of Maine. State-wide storms and staffing shortages in Maine may change delivery times. Please consult your tracking number for delivery date. Once a package leaves my hands, the post office is in charge. (FYI, our local post office is a Maine treasure. Operates just like the good old days.)
